

OPEN CALL

for dancers and performers with non-normative physicalities for mixed-abled creation at Theater Bremen
by Adrienn Hód & Unusual Symptoms

For their upcoming creation at Theater Bremen, choreographer Adrienn Hód and Bremen based dance company Unusual Symptoms are looking for dancers and performers with non-normative physicalities to form a mixed-abled cast together with dancers of Theater Bremen. We are looking for professional as well as amateur dancers and performers with an interest in body and movement research. The working period is planned in two blocks in between February 15th to May 8th 2021 and will take place in Bremen, with additional performances in Bremen and Budapest. Dancers and performers should be available for the entire working process, exceptions can be discussed. Participation in the project will be fully paid, accomodation and travel will be covered. The call is open to all ages & genders.

Due to COVID-19, we will organize an online audition.
To apply, please send:

- a CV with picture and/or a letter of intent
- a short video (focused on movement, can be low-tech, max. 5 minutes)

until December 6th 2020 to tanz@theaterbremen.de The online audition will take place by invitation only between December 7th and 18th.

We are aware that the pandemic creates specific requirements that need to be met and are open to discuss any questions and concerns beforehand. If you have any questions and would like to know more about the project in general, please address Theater Bremen's dance directors Alexandra Morales and Gregor Runge via amorales@theaterbremen.de or grunge@theaterbremen.de
